Learn about the impact your support has made in B.C.

Over the last eight years, thanks to the efforts and generosity of BC Hydro employees and the Power Pioneers, more than $4.3 million dollars has been raised to improve thousands of lives in communities across our province.

United Way has 9 branches throughout the province. Each branch focuses on the issues that are specific to its community, and as a result, supports various non-profit organizations depending on the need in that community.

Choose where your dollars go – to your local United Way or to your favourite Canadian charity. Your giving stays local and your donation supports local United Way programs where you live.

Learn more about the individual United Way branch in your region and the effects COVID-19 is having across our communities. Along with other partners, United Way branches across the province are working to address the most pressing needs now.
